An Update to an RBP Classic!

February 2008— Regular Baptist Press (RBP) announces the revision of an RBP classic. *Biblical Separation: The Struggle for a Pure Church* is the classic historical and biblical defense of an idea - that the church cannot fellowship with those who deny the doctrines of the historic Christian faith. In print for thirty years, Biblical Separation has been updated in a new format that retains all of the material of the first edition and adds new chapters by Ernest Pickering and Myron Houghton.

The first edition of this book went through twelve printings and is on the required reading list of many Christian colleges and universities. This second edition features 60 new pages of content and includes new footnotes, bibliography, subject index, and Scripture index.

“This is the story of a struggle. The struggle will not end until the Head of the church returns. Those who struggle have been and are imperfect human beings; hence they never have and never will produce the perfect church. This book does not defend the notion that all separatists are worthy of emulation, nor does it maintain the position that all non-separatists are completely devoid of spiritual insight. People who truly love Christ and have been a blessing to the church at large can be found in both camps. We seek in these pages to pursue, illustrate, and defend what we believe to be a Scriptural principle, that of separation from evil.”—Ernest Pickering

Ernest Pickering (1928-2000) was a noted leader in American fundamentalism, having ministered as a pastor, seminary president, and leader in missionary organizations. He earned a ThD degree from Dallas Theological Seminary and was a forty-year member of the Evangelical Theological Society. His numerous books, pamphlets, and articles have widely influenced the fundamentalist and evangelical movements. Dr. Pickering also authored the RBP titles Help for the Hurting Pastor and Charismatic Confusion.

Myron J. Houghton is senior professor of systematic theology and chair of the Systematic Theology Department at Faith Baptist Theological Seminary. A former student of Ernest Pickering, Dr. Houghton has earned a ThD from Concordia Seminary and a Ph.D. from Dallas Theological Seminary. He is well-qualified to report on recent theological trends, having also earned graduate degrees from Southern Methodist University, St. Thomas Theological Seminary, and Grace Theological Seminary, and a certificate from St. Stephen's Course of Studies in Orthodox Theology.
